

Integrated credit protection services

Personalised commercial information - The client decides, on the basis of his own specific requirements, which data he wants to obtain in an informative report;

Real Estate Searches - Make it possible to identify accurately the real estate portfolio of a subject, together with notification of any liens and encumbrances, such as mortgage, seizure/attachment, Court Summons etc.

Comas' experience matured in over thirty years of business demonstrates that the 'pre-contractual' assessment of a client's solvency should not be considered exhausted in the 'pre-contractual' phase; it is necessary to keep economic-patrimonial conditions under constant observation and to register any significant changes. It is possible to receive e-mail alerts of events, both voluntary in nature and prejudicial, which are revealed in relation to a given subject, through the Monitoring Service.

EVALUATE THE CHANCES OF RECOVERY

Prior to pursuing Debt Recovery through the Courts, it is essential to undertake an accurate preliminary assessment of the patrimonial and financial situation of the debtor. Undertaking an advance evaluation of the debtor's portfolio of real estate, moveables and sources of income constitutes the best guarantee for raising Court-based debt recovery action with serious chances of success - thus justifying the outlay of time and money (in a successful Court Action, the debtor will almost always be held liable for the creditor's reasonable legal expenses).

Comas is able to offer specific services in this regard, the majority of which are supplied on-line:

Evaluate the chances of recovering a debt

... a pre-requisite for initiating well-founded Legal Action for Debt Recovery; based upon the preliminary assessment of the debtor's patrimonial situation ...

The data contained in each informative report is essential and distributed in a coherent manner to facilitate interpretation and quick decision-making. This is invaluable where it is necessary to evaluate the granting of credit to a potential client (even when he is sitting in front of you) or the cost-effectiveness of proceeding with Debt Recovery procedures against a debtor.

Comas undertakes Debt Recovery both in the Extra-judicial and Judicial phases, in Italy and worldwide, using an operative methodology aimed at eliminating problems traditionally associated with debt recovery.

"EXTRA-JUDICIAL PHASE"

Professionalism, promptness and, above all, the use of qualified personnel who are constantly updated and trained, allows Comas to obtain elevated performance in Debt Recovery. Thanks also to the support of an in-house investigative structure,

Comas is able to provide a wealth of information on traceability and verification of the debtor's economic-patrimonial condition. DEBT RECOVERY “JUDICIAL PHASE”

One of the pre-requisites for successful and focused Court Action for Debt Recovery is the possession of advance knowledge regarding the debtor's economic and patrimonial situation. Only with this information to hand can the Creditor have any guarantee that the Debtor is in a position financially to pay off the debt.

Where - after having conducted the necessary enquiries - it transpires that the debtor possesses no property which can reasonably be attached, Comas will advise the Creditor that Court Action for Debt Recovery is not economically viable. It goes without saying that, where Court Action is unsuccessful, the creditor will remain saddled not only with the unpaid debt but also with the additional financial burden of legal fees, court dues and the like. There is a minority of cases (usually of high value) where Court Action is worthwhile notwithstanding an unsuccessful outcome, as it will allow the Creditor to 'write-off' the debt. If, however, from the checks carried out, it appears that the debtor possesses sufficient property to extinguish the debt, then Comas will recommend that the Creditor consider raising Court Action for Debt Recovery. In order to keep a track of costs, Comas will always provide an estimate of the expenses involved, timescale and the probability of success of the procedure. Court Action pursued through our group of affiliated Lawyers will be offered at advantageous rates. The lawyers belonging to our affiliated group are carefully selected and are experts in the field of Debt Recovery Litigation.

Debt recovery judicial phase

...the coordination of the Extra-judicial and Judicial recovery... offering the possibility of focused actions... Litigation only where reasonable certainty that debtor has means to repay...

In substance, the co-ordination of the Extra-judicial and Judicial phases offers the chance to initiate only selected actions: to raise legal action only where there is a reasonable certainty that the debtor has the means to pay the debt.

This important aspect is often overlooked where an isolated legal action for debt recovery is envisaged: even the most conscientious and technically-accomplished lawyer will be faced with difficulties in researching adequately the debtor's patrimonial profile prior to issuing proceedings. This is for a wide range of reasons: Debt Recovery is only one of his/her many areas of practice and it is rare that he/she will have in-house access to comprehensive commercial information. Secondly, he/she will inevitably lack an integrated investigative structure. Both of these aspects are fundamental in order to evaluate accurately whether or not Court Action is economically viable. The result is that many Court Actions are pursued 'blind', without any realistic chances of recovery, the additional costs of which will have to be met by the Creditor - in addition to the debt which is not recovered. Indeed, many of Comas' clients are in fact lawyers, who have found that integrating selected Comas Services greatly enhances the Debt Recovery packages that they offer to their clients.
